at Temple University

TARGET AUDIENCE

This conference is aimed at practicing orthopaedic surgeons, residents, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants who are involved with management of orthopaedic trauma care.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of the conference, participants should be able to:

1. Understand the current trends in fracture management.
2. Improve their skills in the management of periarticular fractures.
3. Recognize the controversies in fracture management.

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT

Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide Continuing Medical Education for physicians.

CERTIFICATION STATEMENT

Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University designates this live activity for a maximum of 16.00 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

DISCLOSURE POLICY

It is the policy of the Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, The Albert J. Finestone, M.D., Office of Continuing Medical Education that the speaker and provider disclose real or apparent conflicts of interest relating to the topics of this educational activity, and also disclose discussions of unlabeled/unapproved uses of drugs or devices during their presentation(s). The Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) considers financial relationships to create actual conflicts of interest in CME when individuals have both a financial relationship with a commercial interest and the opportunity to affect the content of CME about the products or services of that commercial interest. The ACCME defines a commercial interest as "any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients." The ACCME does not consider providers of clinical service directly to patients to be commercial interests. The Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University has established policies in place that will identify and resolve all conflicts of interest prior to this educational activity. Detailed disclosure will be made prior to the activity.

REGISTRATION FEES

$200.00 Physicians / $100.00 Residents, Fellows, Nurse Practitioners, and Physician Assistants

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

This year's meeting will also include research poster presentations. Residents and medical students are invited to submit one-page abstracts for consideration. The topic should be pertinent to the care of the orthopaedic trauma or fracture patient. Abstracts should be sent by May 18, 2018 to saqib.rehman@tuhs.temple.edu. Additional information is available at medicine.temple.edu/cme.
